MUSIC & DRAMATIC ARTS

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the Fall 2025 edition of Prologue—your front-row preview of another vibrant season of artistry, discovery, and creativity within the LSU College of Music & Dramatic Arts.

Our college—home to both the School of Theatre and the School of Music—is proud to present an exciting lineup of productions and performances that promise to engage and inspire. These performances showcase the exceptional talent of our students and faculty as they bring to life stories and soundscapes that captivate. Whether through music, theatre, or opera, each performance reminds us of the essential role the performing arts play in our communities. They move hearts, provoke thought, and bring people together—offering moments of connection, beauty, and transformation.

This fall also marks a significant milestone for the college, made possible through the generosity of our visionary donors. The School of Music’s Recital Hall—one of the busiest and most cherished venues on campus—is undergoing a long-anticipated renovation. This revitalized space will offer an intimate, modern, and acoustically enhanced environment that better supports our artists and audiences. It is a bold investment in the future of music at LSU and a symbol of the momentum carrying our college forward. I look forward to sharing more exciting and impactful details about this project in the coming months.

On behalf of everyone at LSU, thank you for being part of this journey. Your presence and support make every performance more meaningful. Whether this is your first visit or one of many, we are grateful for your role in sustaining and celebrating the performing arts. I look forward to welcoming you to our events in the months ahead.

LSU Theatre Presents:
The Courtship of Winifred Edwards
 Oct. 2–12, 2025 // Shaver Theatre

Set in 1890s America, The Courtship of Winifred Edwards (or The Handkerchief Play) tells the story of two families in the process of becoming one. When Winifred leaves her handkerchief at a dinner party, Anthony Tailor becomes convinced she did so as a means of gaining his attention. He enlists his cousin, Georgia, to help him return the handkerchief and scout out Winifred's feelings for him. But it's never that simple, is it?

School of Music Presents:
King of Instruments
 Nov. 4, 2025 // 7:30 p.m. // St. Joseph Cathedral

LSU Symphony Orchestra in its second concert of the semester, presents works deep in meaning, and majestic in scale and beauty. Anna Clyne's meditative work, This Moment, reflects on loss and grief in recent times, but finds inspiration in the potential of life and future. LSU professors Johanna Yarbrough and Paul Groves join the LSU Symphony in Benjamin Britten's profound song cycle: Serenade for Tenor, Horn and Strings. The evening concludes with one of the repertoire's most rousing and majestic works, Camille Saint-Saens powerful Symphony No. 3—known as the "Organ Symphony."

Swine Palace Presents:
Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley
 Nov. 6–16, 2025 // Reilly Theatre

A sequel to Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice set two years after the novel ends, Miss Bennet continues the story—this time with bookish middle sister Mary as its unlikely heroine. Tired of being the dutiful sibling amid her sisters' romantic escapades, Mary begins to long for a life of her own. When the family gathers for Christmas at Pemberley, an unexpected guest rekindles her hopes for independence, intellectual companionship, and perhaps even love.

Turner-Fischer Center for Opera Presents:
Le nozze di Figaro
 Nov. 7 & 9, 2025 // Shaver Theatre

On the eve of Figaro and Susanna's wedding, joy turns to chaos when Count Almaviva sets his sights on the bride. But with the help of the clever Countess, the couple hatches a plan full of disguises, mistaken identities, and delightful deception. The Turner-Fischer Center for Opera presents Mozart's Le nozze di Figaro—a brilliant blend of comedy and heart, where love outwits power, laughter triumphs over scheming, and every twist is set to music of unmatched beauty and wit.

The Music of Ravel & Baker

Oct. 15, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

French House, Sternberg Salon

Join LSU faculty artists Willis Delony, Espen Lillestlatten, and Dennis Parker for an intimate evening featuring Ravel's luminous trio and David Baker's jazz-infused Roots II, performed in the elegant Sternberg Salon of the French House.

LSU Wind Ensemble

Nov. 20, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

LSU Union Theater

Join LSU's Wind Ensemble, led by Damon Talley, for a powerful season finale featuring dynamic contemporary works and timeless wind band classics—a bold, brilliant conclusion to an unforgettable semester of music and artistry.

Amernet String Quartet

Oct. 30, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

First United Methodist Church

Praised by the New York Times for their "intelligence" and "immensely satisfying" playing, the Amernet String Quartet is recognized as one of today's top ensembles, noted for their complex sound with an old-world flavor and exceptional technical ability.

Nutcracker x 2

Dec. 2, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

LSU Union Theater

Celebrate the season as LSU Symphony performs excerpts from Tchaikovsky's The Nutcracker, then the LSU Jazz Ensemble performs Ellington and Strayhorn's iconic take. One timeless tale, two unforgettable versions—festive, familiar, and for every age!

Hypercube, Guest Artist

Nov. 4, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

Digital Media Center Theatre

Acclaimed NYC chamber ensemble Hypercube concludes their mini-LSU residency with a bold recital of contemporary works for saxophone, electric guitar, piano, and percussion—including the world premiere of a new piece by LSU Associate Professor of Composition, Mara Gibson.

LSU Candlelight Concert

Dec. 5, 2025 // 7:30 p.m.

Broadmoor Baptist Church

Celebrate the season at LSU's beloved Candlelight Concert, featuring holiday music, spirituals, and choral works by the A Cappella Choir, Tiger Glee Club, Gospel Choir, and more—now at Broadmoor Baptist Church. A tradition of warmth, wonder, and joy.

Recital Hall Renovations Anchors a Season of Renewal

This fall, as you make your way through the north side of campus, you may notice more activity than normal in the College of Music & Dramatic Arts. One of LSU's busiest and most beloved venues—the Recital Hall in the School of Music building—is set to undergo a long-anticipated renovation. More than a cosmetic upgrade, this project represents a full reimagining of the space for the 21st century. Construction begins in August 2025, ushering in a new chapter for a hall that has served generations of students, faculty, guest artists, and audiences. The renovation rethinks the hall from the inside out, with a focus on acoustic excellence, audience comfort, and future-ready technology.

At the renovation's core is an architectural and acoustic redesign that will unlock the hall's full sonic potential. Key improvements include raising the ceiling, converting the former recording studio into a technical balcony, and rebuilding the stage walls with acoustically transparent materials. These changes will be complemented by adjustable acoustic control measures such as retractable curtains and sound-reflective panels—ensuring performances resonate with greater warmth and clarity.

Audiences will also benefit from a completely modernized interior. New seating and updated lighting will improve comfort and visibility, while upgraded HVAC and humidity control systems will better preserve instruments and ensure consistent acoustic quality. Sound and light blocks at the entrances will reduce distractions, helping to maintain the hall's intimate and immersive atmosphere.

To meet the demands of today's performance landscape, the Recital Hall is also being equipped for the future by rebuilding the electrical infrastructure to support high-quality recording, livestreaming, video projection, and audio playback. Furthermore, backstage support areas will be reconfigured for greater functionality, including a mid-stage piano storage system, a relocated green room, and a newly designated recording studio.

Transformation Beyond the Stage

While the Recital Hall remains the centerpiece of this effort, it is part of a broader investment in the facilities that support all facets of the performing arts at LSU. Recent upgrades across the College include modernized lighting in the Shaver Theatre, expanded space to support the Film & TV program's growing inventory of professional-grade equipment, a new self-taping space to support students working on securing professional auditions, and a new sound studio in the Music & Dramatic Arts Building. Each of these enhancements are designed to enhance the educational and creative experiences of our students.

Together, these recent and upcoming improvements reflect a clear vision: to ensure LSU's learning and performance spaces match the excellence of the artists and educators who use them. The Recital Hall renovation marks a major milestone in that journey—an investment in our people, our programs, and the future of the performing arts at LSU and beyond.

This transformative investment in our facilities has been made possible through the extraordinary generosity of our donors and the dedicated efforts of the CMDA's administration and staff. We invite you to stay connected and follow the progress of this landmark project at lsu.edu/cmda and on our social media channels.

LSU Theatre/Swine Palace

Offering comprehensive training from the undergraduate to graduate level, the School of Theatre is home to a community of artists, educators, and scholars, dedicated to the creation, cultivation, and understanding of the dramatic narrative arts. From passionate actors, dancers, and filmmakers to innovative designers, directors and technicians we feature the work of our students through a diverse array of productions annually, ranging from classic to contemporary work.

A hallmark of the School is Swine Palace, the School's affiliated professional theatre company, which provides students, faculty, and staff the opportunity to work alongside professionals in all areas.

The LSU Orchestral Studies area provides a robust, fulfilling musical experience for all interested stakeholders at LSU. Audiences enjoy exciting and creative programming and concerts, while students collaborate with artists, composers, and LSU's world-renowned faculty. Orchestral ensemble opportunities are open to music majors and non-majors who seek study and participation in ensemble performance through a wide range of repertoire. It serves as a valuable resource to the greater orchestral and educational community of Louisiana.

The Orchestral Studies area regularly hosts guest artists at LSU, such as GRAMMY-winning trio Time For Three. These opportunities further enhance our students' experience with masterclasses, joint rehearsals and concerts, and community engagement.

LSU Jazz Showcase Concert

LSU's Jazz Studies area boasts a rich history that can be traced back to the 1950s. Legendary jazz alumni, such as trombonist Carl Fontana, composer/pianist Les Hooper, and Larry Muhoberac, Kevin Lyons, Al Belleto, Mose Allison, and Sonny Hill have made significant contributions to America's great art form. The current generation of alumni includes saxophonist Brad Walker, active touring artist and top call player in New Orleans, and pianist Oscar Rossignoli, widely recognized as a rising star in New Orleans and beyond.

The LSU Jazz Ensemble frequently hosts exhilarating big band concerts featuring world-renowned jazz artists. Recent guests have included trumpet luminary Wayne Bergeron, saxophonist and Louisiana native Branford Marsalis, and jazz fusion drummer Peter Erskine.
